What's going on at C-CPR?

Dear ,

Presentation on the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons – a model for the NCPE?

Question & Answer

Kenneth Harris, MD
FRCS

NCPE
National Centre for Policing Excellence

Why is the Royal College a great model for police education?

At the last Working Group meeting, Dr. Ken Harris who is a board member of C-CPR described how the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons of Canada does its fine work of creating curriculum for post-graduate resident training. It's worth your watch because he provides a clear picture of what the National Centre for Police Training could create for police officer education in Canada. He also describes what the Royal College is NOT and the "nots" are important. The Royal College creates good apples through education and the few bad apple are handled by provincial bodies. We envision the same for the NCPE.

Good Cop, Bot Cop: Are they the new crime-fighting duo?

Don't miss the webinar on September 18th at 2 pm Eastern!

What's the good and the bad? What are the benefits, disadvantages and the risks of Artificial Intelligence for front-line officers?

Brad Cotton MBA PhD Candidate from Edinburgh University and former Ontario police officer with 28 years of experience AND Cyber-security expert Ritesh Kotak MBA JD also a former member of law enforcement will discuss AI. What's the good and the bad; what are the benefits, disadvantages and the risks of Artificial Intelligence for front-line officers.

We are honoured to have these two amiable, knowledgeable men at our season opening webinar. Mike Federico BA OOM, Vice-President will moderate the webinar.

AI has the potential to help crime fighting. But AI has the potential to create and support criminal activity.

What do police officers and their executives need to know to tip the scales of justice towards crime prevention and away from criminal use of AI? How can AI help the officer on the street? Are the risks of AI confined to "hallucinations" or is there hidden risk for penetration of AI systems by criminal elements?

Our 75 min. webinars offer a wonderful opportunity to "cross-examine" the experts. We always have adequate opportunity for your questions. Later the YouTube video is available for viewing by members and webinar purchasers only.

What happened this summer?

You will recall that Mike Federico joined our board last winter. He has now assumed the role of Vice-President. He has undertaken the Chairmanship of the Working Group that will create a policy proposal for the National Centre for Policing Excellence.

Les Titleman BA MA is now a member of our board after serving as an active volunteer for about 18 months. Les is a Detective (Staff) Sergeant in the Toronto area. His experience and his ability to write and edit are serving C-CPR well.

The Operations Committee has met every 2 weeks over the summer. OPS is the frontal lobe of C-CPR. Ideas are tested. Strategy is developed. Plans are amended. AND you are welcome too. Just call or email. We resume weekly meetings in September.

Dave Cassels, President is on a nice vacation in Ireland after a few days in London. He will return re-charged.

Dennis Shepp has developed his portfolio as Secretary of C-CPR. He's the record creator and keeper for all of our non-financial data. His wisdom led to the launch of our Philanthropy Committee. Dennis and Joyce are soon heading out on a Maritime holiday.

John Lilley continues to serve as Treasurer. He is functioning more and more in the role of "administrator".

Janice Sherry has resigned from the board due to family commitments. She remains interested and ready to engage and inform politicians in the Maritimes. The board thanks her for her service.
